OCTOBER NARRATIVE REPORT-MEN'S WORK

P. H. Stone,
State Agent for Negro Work

Enterprise Development Work

Corn:

The Third Annual Corn Show put on by the Farm Demonstration Agents at the Southeastern Fair was held this month and was participated in by twelve of the fourteen negro county agents as well as one other county in which some miscellaneous work has been carried on. This show brought together 900 ten-ear exhibits of corn as county and individual exhibits and not only doubled in quantity any previous show; but the quality represented almost as much improvement. Every ear of this corn came from demonstrations grown under the agents' supervision.

Some of the agents' reports this month contain final figures on some of the five and two-acre demonstrations, some of which are given here:

County	Number of Reports	Average acreage per demonstration	Average Yield
Chatham	3	5	54 bu.
Houston-Peach	25	3	37 $\frac{1}{2}$ "
Liberty	25	3	43 $\frac{1}{4}$ "
Ware	8	5	33 "

In Chatham County, Scipio Wilson, of the Flowersville Community, not only has grown sufficient corn for his own use through his demonstrations, but has not sufficient crib-space to house his surplus, and, in addition, has a good quantity of pure Hastings' Prolific corn to sell for seed.

Joe Delegall, of the Dorchester Community, in Liberty County, has harvested 156 bushels of corn from his two-acre demonstration. Delegall has measured this corn once and weighed it three times, convincing various groups of "Doubting Thomases," found among his neighbors in the county. It seems now that he will top the list of corn production champions in Liberty.

Cotton:

An interesting illustration is gathered from Agent T. W. Brown's Washington County Report - Robert Hooks, a tenant in the Deep step Community, enrolled in the local, five-acre contest, but insisted on following many of his old pre boll weevil practices. His yield was 4045 pounds of seed cotton grown at a cost of nineteen cents per pound, giving him a net profit of one cent per pound.

Statistical Development

1931

The Third Annual Cotton Show put on by the Farm Demonstration Agents at the Government Fair was held this month and was participated in by twelve of the fourteen negro county agents as well as one other county in which some miscellaneous work was done carried on. This show brought together 500 ten-acre exhibits of cotton in county and individual exhibits and not only showed in quantity but previous show; but the quality represented almost as much improvement. Heavy crop of this cotton came from demonstrations grown under the agents' supervision.

Some of the agents' reports this month contain final figures on some of the live and two-acre demonstrations, some of which are given here:

County	Number of Exhibits	Average acreage per demonstration	Average yield
Gretna	5	5	55 bu.
Houston-Peach	250	5	57 1/2 "
Liberty	25	5	45 "
Warr	5	5	55 "

In Gretna County, Ralph Wilson, of the Florenceville Community, not only has grown excellent cotton for his own use through his demonstrations, but has not sufficient crop-space to house his surplus, and, in addition, has a good quantity of pure Hastings' Prolific corn to sell for seed.

Joe Delagail, of the Rochester Community, in Liberty County, has harvested the bushels of corn from his two-acre demonstration. Delagail has measured this corn once and weighed it three times, convincing various groups of "Doubting Thomases," local among his neighbors in the county. It seems now that he will top the list of corn production champions in Liberty.

An interesting illustration is gathered from Agent T. W. Brown's Washington County Report - Robert Hooks, a tenant in the Deep Step Community, entered in the local, live-acre contest, but losted on following many of his old but well known ideas. His yield was 405 pounds of seed cotton grown at a cost of nineteen cents per pound, giving him a net profit of one cent per pound.

J. B. Russell, a tenant on the same farm, with a different attitude, produced 10,159 pounds on the same acreage, realizing a net profit of fifteen cents per pound.

From Washington, Sumter, Randolph, Houston-Peach, Hancock, and Clarke counties come reports of yields from 845 pounds of seed cotton per acre in Randolph County to a bale per acre in Hancock County.

Forage:

In Houston-Peach Counties, Agent O. S. O'Neal reports that the 320 adult club folk who planted summer legumes for forage have harvested from three to ten tons each.

A similar report comes from Randolph County, where co-operators have harvested 100 tons of legume and other forage.

Despite losses experienced in some counties due to floods and continuous rains, the quantity of forage gathered this fall through the efforts and influence of the agents shows improvement.

Small Grain:

In Oconee County, demonstrators have seeded 50 acres of rye and 140 acres to oats, and in Houston-Peach Counties, 120 men have planted small acreages to rye and 220 planted five or more acres to oats.

In Clarke County, seven demonstrations in small grain, covering fifty-two acres, were started this month.

Agent C. O. Brown reports that farmers in Putnam, Jones, and Baldwin Counties, who have started work with the Extension program, have seeded 250 acres to oats, 100 acres to wheat, and 5 acres to rye. All oats were treated for smut before planting.

Winter Legumes:

Agent C. O. Brown, located at Milledgeville, reports 25 acres planted to Austrian peas in his territory this month.

Agent Wm. R. King, of Dougherty County, has assisted in seeding 530 pounds of Austrian peas, and three demonstrations have been started in Bibb County and seven in Ware County.

J. E. Russell, a tenant on the same farm, with a dollar-out estimate, produced 18,100 pounds on the same acreage, realizing a net profit of fifteen cents per pound.

From Washington, D.C., Haverford, Kansas, Haverford, Kansas, and Clinton counties some reports of yields from 100 pounds of seed cotton per acre in Randolph County to a sale per acre in Hancock County.

that the 100 seed also the planted summer legumes for forage have harvested from these to the same seed.

A similar report comes from Randolph County, where cooperators have harvested 100 tons of legumes and other forage.

Despite losses experienced in some counties due to floods and continuous rains, the quantity of forage produced this fall through the efforts and assistance of the agents shows improvement.

The Fourth Annual Farm-Good News Show held this month at the Southwestern Fair was by far the most successful show ever held in this district. Mr. E. W. Hamilton, of Kansas College, South Carolina, who has judged this show each year since the beginning, said, "There has been such remarkable improvement in the quality of your meat displays that there is absolutely no basis for comparing your Show this year with previous years."

Dr. A. G. G. Richardson, State Leader of Veterinary Extension and who has given this phase of the work his personal attention said, "It seems now that we are really getting somewhere with our farm meat production program, judging from the quality of meat in this exhibit."

Fairs

During the month, Extension exhibits have been placed at the following fairs:

Southeastern Fair,	Atlanta, Georgia
Georgia State Exposition,	Macon, "
Georgia State Fair,	Savannah, "
Middle Georgia Fair,	Milledgeville, Georgia
Hancock County Fair,	Sparta, "
Putnam County Fair,	Eatonton, "
Oconee Negro Fair,	Dublin, "

These exhibits both from their quality and arrangement showed marked improvement over those of previous years, and, in every case, a deal of attention was directed toward the negro exhibit.

The following extract taken from a letter shows the type of reaction which these exhibits aroused: "At a meeting of the Directors ..... a motion was made and unanimously carried that the thanks of this organization be expressed to you and your co-workers for the magnificent exhibit you had at the Southeastern Fair.

Your display showed the remarkable progress your race is making, not only in material, but in artistic things."

Narrative Report-Boys' Club Work Enterprise Development Work

Corn:

The following is taken from Agent T. W. Brown's report: "One of my club boys reported this morning that he gathered forty-one bushels of corn off his club patch. The landlord and the boy's parents are very much pleased over such results. This club member lives in the Silas Crossing Community. He also won the blue ribbon on corn in the 4-H Club entries at the Southeastern Fair, Atlanta, Georgia, and the Middle Georgia Fair, Milledgeville, Georgia, amounts six dollars and ten dollars. He also sent one hundred ears of corn to Atlanta and won third place in the 100-ear exhibit. George Henderson, living in the same community, brought back the bacon and the blue ribbon from the Southeastern Fair on the best 100 ears of corn."

In Chatham County, fifty-three field lessons were given in seed corn selection.

Liberty County: "Sixteen corn demonstrations among the boys have been measured. Lee Garrison of the Pine Hill Community stands highest so far. His acre of corn measured fifty-seven bushels of corn per acre. This same boy won second prize at the State Fair for the best ten ears of corn from the county."

Number of copies of this report is estimated to be approximately 100

Notes

These exhibits both from their quality and arrangement showed marked improvement over those of previous years, and, in every case, a deal of attention was directed toward the negro exhibits.

The following exhibit taken from a letter shows the type of reaction which these exhibits evoked: "It is a matter of the Director .... a reaction was made and unanimously carried that the thanks of this organization be expressed to you and your co-workers for the magnificent exhibit you had at the Southwestern Fair."

Your display showed the remarkable progress your race is

Notes

The following is taken from Agent T. W. Brown's report:
"One of my club boys reported this morning that he carried forty-one bushels of corn off his club patch. The landlord and the boy's partners are very much pleased over such results. This club member lives in the Blue Grass Community. He also has the blue ribbon corn in the 4-H Club contest at the Southwestern Fair, Atlanta, Georgia, and the Middle Georgia Fair, Macon, Georgia, amounting in dollars and ten dollars. He also sent one hundred ears of corn to Atlanta and won third place in the 100-ear exhibit. George E. H. demonstrated in the same community, brought back the money and the blue ribbon from the Southwestern Fair on the last 100 ears of corn."

In Graham County, fifty-three field hands were given in seed corn collection.

Liberty County 6000000 corn demonstration among the boys have been a success. The success of the Blue Hill Community stands highest as far. The ears of corn amounted fifty-two bushels of corn per acre. This was a record price at the State Fair for the best ear of corn from the county."

Peach-Houston Counties: "One hundred and twenty club members in the production of corn have harvested same, making on the average 45 bushels per acre. One club member, Godfrey Ragins, of Myrtle Community, made 60 bushels of corn on his acre. His father states that his son made more on his acre than he did on his whole farm. This club member sent 10 ears of his corn to the Southeastern Fair at Atlanta and took the first prize in the Boys' Corn Club Exhibit."

Cotton: Ten boys in Sumter County this month turned in their cotton records and began destroying stalks and preparing for next year's crop.

Agent O. S. O'Neal, Peach-Houston Counties, Reports: "Sixty cotton club members carried the program of growing cotton successfully under boll weevil conditions, making on the average three-fourths of a bale per acre. Some of these boys are in school from the money made from their acres."

Hogs: The following summary is taken from the October reports and indicates something of the interest the boys are showing in their pigs:

Sumter County: "I visited two pig club boys and gave one demonstration in judging pigs. Instructions were also given in fattening hogs for market."

Houston-Peach Counties: "Eighty pig club members have their hogs in fine condition. These hogs will average 153 pounds each and are being pushed for butchering as soon as the weather is right."

Randolph County: "Our 75 boys conducting demonstrations with hogs report success. Only one of these boys lost the pig with which he started, and he did not give up the race, but secured another pig and is in the race. The boy to whom I refer is Willie Shorter, of Coleman."

Chatham County: "Made four visits to boys in the interest of feeding and breeding their hogs and advised them how to continue with their mineral mixture where these hogs are confined to pens."

Ware County: "All members of the Chamber of Commerce, Lion Club, Kiwanis, and Negro Business League have been paid for the pigs they advanced the club boys. Twelve of these pigs were exhibited at the Southeastern Fair. These pigs won prizes amounting to one hundred and thirty dollars."

Fairs

This month, club boys had special exhibits at the Atlanta, Dublin, and Savannah Fairs, and at the others, they entered their products in open competition and more than held their own.

The following paragraph, taken from Agent Lampkin's report, indicates the extent of the competition they furnished:
